Monopoly: Spielanleitung und Tipps³

Jeder Spieler erhält zu Spielbeginn eine Figur und 2x500 Euro, 4x100 Euro, 1x50 Euro, 1x20 Euro, 2x10 Euro, 1x5 Euro und 5x1 Euro. Jeder hat somit 1.500 Euro Startkapital. Ein Spieler muss sich bereit erklären, die Bank zu leiten.

Die Ereignis- und die Gemeinschaftskarten werden verdeckt als Stapel auf dem dazugehörigen Feld auf dem Brett platziert.

Alle Mitspieler starten auf dem Feld "Los". Gezogen wird im Uhrzeigersinn.

Es wird mit zwei Würfeln gewürfelt. Der Spieler, der an der Reihe ist, darf so viele Felder ziehen, wie die Gesamtsumme der gewürfelten Augenzahl ergibt. Würfelt er einen Pasch, darf er anschließend noch einmal würfeln und ziehen. Würfelt ein Spieler dreimal hintereinander einen Pasch, muss er sich auf das Feld "Gefängnis" begeben.

Landet ein Spieler mit einem Zug auf einem Straßennamen und die Straße gehört noch keinem anderen Mitspieler, kann er die Straße kaufen und erhält die Besitzrecht-Karte.

Landen danach andere Spieler auf der Straße, müssen sie dem Besitzer Miete zahlen. Die Höhe der Miete ist auf der Besitzrecht-Karte festgelegt. Möchte oder kann er die Straße nicht kaufen, etwa weil seine Finanzen nicht ausreichen, wird die Straße versteigert und die anderen Spieler können darauf bieten.

Besitzt ein Spieler alle Straßen einer Farbe, kann er darauf Häuser bauen - jedes mal, wenn er auf das Feld kommt, aber jedes mal nur ein Haus. Der Preis für einen Hausbau ist ebenfalls auf der Besitzrecht-Karte festgelegt. Hat der Besitzer auf einer Straße vier Häuser gebaut, kann er ein Hotel errichten. Mit jedem Haus oder Hotel erhöht sich die Miete, die ein anderer Spieler zahlen muss. Zudem kann ein Spieler auf seine Häuser Hypotheken aufnehmen, wenn er Geld braucht. Die Konditionen sind wieder auf der Besitzrecht-Karte festgelegt.

Die Bahnhöfe, das Elektrizitäts- und das Wasserwerk können ebenfalls gekauft werden. Allerdings kann man hier keine Häuser bauen. Straßen können auch wieder an die Bank verkauft werden, allerdings nur, solange keine Häuser gebaut sind. Ist das der Fall, müssen erst die Häuser verkauft werden. Ein Verkauf ist wie ein Kauf nur möglich, wenn man auf dem entsprechenden Feld landet.

Landet ein Spieler auf einem Ereignis- oder Gemeinschaftsfeld, muss er die oberste Karte des entsprechenden Stapels aufdecken und die Anweisung befolgen.

Auf dem Spielfeld gibt es auch Felder mit besonderen Steuern oder Abgaben. Landet man auf solch einem Feld, ist der entsprechende Betrag an die Bank zu entrichten.

Landet ein Spieler durch Würfeln auf dem Gefängnisfeld, passiert nichts. Er ist dann nur Besucher und darf in der nächsten Runde unbehelligt weiterziehen. Landet ein Spieler allerdings auf dem Feld "Gehen Sie in das Gefängnis", würfelt dreimal einen Pasch oder zieht eine entsprechende Karte, muss er sich auf das Gefängnisfeld begeben und sitzt dort erst einmal ein.

Um aus dem Gefängnis frei zu kommen, muss der Spieler entweder die Karte "Du kommst aus dem Gefängnis frei" nutzen - sofern er über eine solche Karte verfügt - einen Pasch würfeln oder 50 Euro an die Bank zahlen.

Passiert ein Spieler das Feld "Los", erhält er jedes mal 200 Euro. Er muss das Feld nicht treffen, es reicht, wenn es passiert wird.

Ein Spieler scheidet aus dem Spiel aus, sobald er bankrott geht. Das ist der Fall, wenn er nicht mehr genug Geld hat, um beispielsweise Miete oder Steuern zahlen zu können.

Monopoly: Ziel des Spiels und Tipps ⁴

Wie Sie an den Regeln sicher schon gemerkt haben, geht es bei Monopoly darum, möglichst viel Besitz anzuhäufen und somit die Einnahmen zu erhöhen. Wer zuerst kein Geld mehr hat, scheidet aus. Wer bis zuletzt übrig bleibt, hat das Spiel gewonnen. Die Strategie sollte sich also darauf ausrichten, was am profitabelsten ist.

Wenn möglich, kaufen Sie die orangefarbenen Straßen. Die liegen nicht weit vom Gefängnis entfernt. Die Chance, dass ein Insasse nach der Freilassung auf einer Straße dieser Farbe landet, ist hoch.

Schauen Sie, dass sie alle Straßen einer Farbe erwerben. Nur dann können Sie nämlich bauen und Ihre Einnahmen erhöhen.

Wenn Sie bauen, bestücken Sie die Straßen mit jeweils drei oder vier Häusern. Verzichteten Sie auf Hotels. Bei Monopoly gibt es nämlich insgesamt nur 32 Häuser: Stehen diese auf Ihren Straßen, können die Gegner nicht mehr bauen. Bauen Sie jedoch ein Hotel, müssen Sie Ihre Häuser dafür abgeben und die Gegner können damit bauen.
